It's not often in mid-life one gets to realize and live out a dream almost by.... chance. Being fascinated with architecture back in my earlier years and literally losing sight of it as I began raising a family here in Northern Colorado; a chance opportunity knocked right at the door! Opening that door a few years ago led to taking a position as an assistant supporting JLowHomes Real Estate! Working with such a talented realtor and having the opportunity to meet some of her remarkable clients my interests in architecture, real estate and even more importantly community once again took root. By faith and encouragement becoming a recent member of the JLowHomes team.

I'd like to think of myself as simple but hardworking woman with background in project coordination/management (otherwise known as herding cats). My day starts at 4:30 am in the gym, I box a couple evenings a week and can be found cheering enthusiastically for the home team during football season! I enjoy my family and the community Northern Colorado! If you're looking for a community to plant your roots, and chance is knocking at your door, it would be my pleasure to help you realize your dream – give me a call and let's get to opening doors!!!
